PatternSkinCssCookbook Recipe: Hide the top bar

This recipe shows how to hide the top bar and to put the logo in the left bar.

This line loads the extra style definition:

```
* Set USERSTYLEURL=%ATTACHURLPATH%/notopbar.css
```

You can write this line in DefaultPreferences, in SitePreferences, in WebPreferences, in your user topic or on a single page.

Add the dynamic link to the logo image to the topic text:

<style type="text/css" media="all">
#patternSideBar { background-image:url ("%PUBURLPATH%/%WEB%/%WEBPREFSTOPIC%/logo.gif"); }
</style>
```

 If you don't write this overloading style in a template and use an external .css file, you need to set the image to the absolute url:

<style type="text/css" media="all">
#patternSideBar { background-image:url ("/pub/System/WebPreferences/logo.gif"); }
</style>
```

You can always write a <style> in a topic - all current browsers support this - but the page won't validate as valid XHTML.
